HAD PRACTICE GAME

Senators Play Waiters From the Hygeia Hotel,

MANAGER IRWIN ON THE TEAM

Coming National League Meeting in New York.

CURRENT SPORTING NOTES

The weather at Hampton, Va., yesterday was of a balmy nature, and the Senators were promptly on the diamond in the afternoon in anticipation of their first regular game. The waiters from the Hygeia Hotel, strengthened by Arlie Latham, who played first base for them, were the Senators' opponents and proved to be very easy to defeat. Dinneen and Dunkle did the twirling for the Senators, and, of course, it was only when they relaxed their efforts that any semblance of hitting was forthcoming. The game furnished a good trying-out, and that was the object sought. Hulen played six innings at short and fielded splendidly, also bitting hard, he and Freeman leading the team at the bat, the latter making a triple and a double. Gettman, Slagle, Davis, Padden, Mercer and McGuire all played good, reliable ball in the field, while on the bases their work was of the run-getting order. Latham's reaching was the life of the contest, and but for his urging the colored boys would have made a very poor showing. The final score was 14 to 2, the Senators having 15 base hits against 7 for the opponents, while the errors were confined to Hygelas, who had 10 placed to their credit. Today the Senators will be divided into two teams of "Regulars" and "Yanigans," and this will be the program until next Thursday, when the Newport News team will be their opponents. and a double. Gettman, Slagle, Davis, Pad-

The following letter, dated Phoebus, Va., was received by Mr. George W. Wagner in Philadelphia from Manager Arthur Irwing and is in the nature of a report of the situation in the Senators' base ball camp:

"We have arrived safe and have had three good days' work. I will go through the team and try and tell you exactly what the men look like. McGuire is in good shape. Farrell is fat, but working hard, and will be in grand shape in two weeks. He is the only man that is at all fat, everybody else being in perfect condition as far as weight is concerned. Hulen is all right, and he will make a good man. His left hand is a benefit on all double plays from second, and he is so fast on his feet that he seems to get in front of everything. Hulen has been wrestling with stomach trouble, but after I had taken him to the hospital he quickly regained his healthy form. He is a good hitter, bunter and base runner.

"Padden is a corker. He has Beitz hogt."

quickly regained his healthy form. He is a good hitter, bunter and base runner.

"Padden is a corker. He has Reliz beaten in every department of the game.

"Mercer is in great shape. He is ten pounds heavier and is hitting and running in great shape. I think he will play third in first-class style.

"Davis reported vesterday (last Saturday). He looks light, but I suppose he has worked hard all winter. His injured leg seems all right from the way he ran the bases.

"Latham is the life of the whole team.

Notwithstanding the denials of several league magnates that a meeting of the league officials would be held this week in New York. President Young Issued a call for such a meeting last night, and they will gather together tomorrow at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The Star has insisted that a meeting would be called this week, as the indications all pointed to the necessity for such a course. The St. Louis muddle will be finally settled. Mr. Becker being able to explain his connection with the club and other league magnates, while the Cleveland people will know exactly where they are. The schedule, as published some time since in The Star, will be adopted, and the New York situation will no doubt receive a good, healthy airing. Many base ball people think it would be a good thing for the league if the magnates would decide to headle the New York Stream of the New York situation will no doubt receive a good, healthy airing. Many base ball people think it would be a good thing for the league if the magnates would decide to headle the New York Stream of the New York Str Notwithstanding the denials of several think it would be a good thing for the league if the magnates would decide to handle the New York president without gloves. This meeting has no doubt prevented J. Earl Wagner from joining the Senators at Hampton, as the Washington magnate is a good "mixer" and delights in the politics of the game. President Young the politics of the game. President Young and his son Robert will leave for New York

The Boston club gathered strength as it The Boston club gathered strength as it sped away from the city of culture, Selee and Duffy being the original two that left that city, but by the time the Beancaters arrived in Washington yesterday their numbers had increased to a round dozen. Frisbee, the western boy who is "touted" to fight "Chick" Stahl for his place in right field, joined the Boston manager here, the other players chipping in at New York and Philadelphia. Coillins, Stahl, Yeager, Stafford, Klobedanz, Strait, Willis, Hickman and Kuhns are the other players that registered at the Normandie for their short stop in this city. The Bostonians left about 6:39 last evening for their training quarters at Durham, N. C. The remaining members of the team will join their companions within the next two weeks.

The Western League of base ball magnates met at the Republican House, in Milwacke, yesterday. The meeting was called for the specific purpose of arranging the playing schedule for the season. However, the make-up of the circuit will have to be settled before anything else can be done.

A report is that both the National and Western Leagues combination understand each other and that the question of the Western League circuit has been settled and that the schedule will be agreed upon tonight. onight.

President Comiskey of the St. Paul team President Comiskey of the St. Paul team has secured Catcher Chance of California from Chicago, to play first base, and a deal is on between Vanderbeck of Detroit and Manning of Kansas City for the transfer of Left Fielder Dungan from Detroit to Kan-sas City, in exchange for one of Manning's

It is also reported that the season will open with Columbus in the circuit, but in case the National League abandons the Cleveland territory that Columbus will be transferred to the forest city.

The decision of Manager Irwin to give The decision of Manager Irwin to give Mercer a full trying out at third base gives rise to the suspicion that Catcher McGulre may yet be traded or sold. Pittsburg will not be the lucky club, as McGulre does not not be the lucky club, as McGuire does not care to play in that city, and Mr. Wagner will not send James where he does not want to go. Cincinnati has too many pitchers, all of them good, and may have a good infielder to offer in trade, while Brooklyn may turn over a good pitcher and John Anderson, whom the Washington "fans" were delighted with last season. Mercer will certainly have the good wishes of his Washington friends in trying to play third base, and it is to be hoped he may be able to fill the bill acceptably.

There is a new arrival at the home in Baltimore of Catcher William J. Clarke of the Boston base ball team. It is a fine boy, his first, and arrived on Tuesday. The popular player spent a day or two at home, but left yesterday to resume his duties as coach for the Princeton team.

The Cincinnatis did not turn a wheel yesterday. Practice at Wildwood Park was out of the question, owing to numerous showers, which began early in the day. It showers, which began early in the day. It was the first time since the team went into training at Columbus. Ga., that they were compelled to miss a full day. Capt. Hecker of the quartermaster's department. He will make another trip to Cuba next

Of course, some of them are certainties, but I have reference to the doubtful material. I hardly think it probable that the club will carry seven pitchers, the number we now have on hand, yet we will probably carry six and positively no less than five."

FISHING CLUBS ACTIVE.

Belief That Sport This Season Will Be First-Class. Members of the many fishing clubs along the river are making extensive preparations for the coming season, and some of them expect to make improvements to their property. Anglers have every reason to believe that the sport this season will be much better than it has been for several years past. Local anglers are interested in quite a number of clubs along the Potomac, from as far up as Woodmont to the mouth of the river. On the lower part of the river there are several places where some of the sportsmen have their summer outings.

. Reports thus far received indicate that there is an abundance of fish in the river. A citizen who tried his luck in the Anacos-A citizen who tried his luck in the Anacostia river a few days ago told a Star reporter that bass of the big-mouth species and yellow perch were found to be particularly plentiful. He said he saw many of these fish in the water, but he caught only yellow perch, because he did not have the proper bait for the bass. The spring bass fishing, he said, would not amount to much this season on account of the wet weather, which necessarily clouds the water and which necessarily clouds the water and stops the fish from biting. Under the law the time for spring bass

Under the law the time for spring bass fishing will soon close, and cannot be resumed until that period when the weather is almost too warm to make the sport enjoyable. Down the river the netters are catching great quantities of these bass and shipping them to market. Because of the rigid enforcement of the fish law none of the smaller fish are now making that were the smaller fish are now making their way to the local market. Crappies, it is reported, are also more plentiful than they were last year. A number of them have been seen in the river in the vicinity of Analostan Island.

At this season, when his are supposed to be plentiful, the so-called "pot hunters" are more liable, it is claimed, to attempt violations of the law than at other times. For this reason Game Warden Sylvester is having the river guarded at night, and violators of the law who make the attempt are pretty sure to get caught. pretty sure to get caught.

If constant practice is essential to develop a ball team the Maryland Agricultural College team, at College Station, bids fair to eclipse any team that has represented that institution for some time. A number of promising players have been gotten together and the prospects for a winning team are very encouraging. The team has done a great deal of practicing, notwithstanding the inclement weather. The positions that have been made vacant by last year's players not returning have been filled by other promising players.

The Scene of the Reported Fight With

Canadian Police. Both the State Department and the British embassy, which have been giving the subject close attention, are so far unable to locate the scene of that reported collision between the American miners and the Canadian mounted police, which was the subject of a story brought by a miner returning from Alaska to Vancouver recently. At one point the statement seems to relate to the Porcupine river country. But the officials say that there is no reason why there should be doubt entertained as to the rights of either party on that as to the rights of either party on that river. There are two marks, one American and one Canadian, on the river 200 miles above its confluence with the Yukon, These marks are separated six miles, being in the neighborhood of Rampart House. Under neighborhood of Rampart House. Under the arrangement which both countries have been trying to live up to pending the es-tablishment of a definitive boundary line the temporary boundary by which both Amer-icans and Canadians must be bound ites half-way between the two marks.

But the account given by this returned miner seems to convey the understanding that the scene of difficulty is five or six hundred miles away from the Porcupine river, in the neighborhood of the Dawson trail, and that it is not far from the Atlin district in British Columbia. The charts show no stream by the name of Porcupine in that section.

There is a Porcupine Digging, but this is said to be fully six miles within the mark that has been uniformly recognized as the temporary boundary in that section, namely, the summit of the passes. Neither of the points mentioned seems to meet the description given, and the authorities are still pursuing their inquiry. Both sides are extremely anxious to take such action, as will prevent a collision between unauthorized and lawless characters, and, as already stated, the disposition is shown to live up stated, the disposition is shown to live up to the modus vivendl 'acitly accepted at the time of the adjustment of the difficulty between the customs officers of the two countries last year over the establishment of a boundary line at the head of the gunboats Sandoval and Alvarado, now at the Washington navy yard. The Baracoa is of steel, 114 feet 9 inches long, 16 feet 5 inches beam and 8 feet 2 inches draft. Her displacement is 135 tons and, with 220 horsepower, she is able to make ten knots. She carries one Hentoria gun of 3.5-inch caliber, one of 2.7-inch caliber and two machine guns. Probably she will be ordered north as soon as she can be made ready for the voyage, to be thoroughly overhauled at one of the navy yards.
